

Ever wondered how history is written and by who?
Want to influence how museums and archives engage with people?
Would you like to create your own public events?

TOWIE is for 18-25 year olds who are interested in politics, protest and power. Delve into London's protest history, question today's society and create events that platform your views and engage others in the debate.

What will I get?

- specialist heritage and arts training
- an insiders' look at Museum of London and Bishopsgate Institute
- a chance to work with professional curators, archivists and artists
- £1000 programming budget to create an interactive event

Any Questions?

You can contact the TOWIE team on the email below or for more information and a look at the project so far, visit:
